Belle intensité fruitée. Nuances de framboises et de cassis, touche de menthe. Beaucoup de finesse en bouche. Vin sapide, bien soutenu par ses tannins et par une structure rafraîchissante. Finale fruitée et désaltérante. 2024-2035

Le cru a gagné en densité ces dernières années. Le vin est sérieux, intense, avec une belle matière et des tanins serrés. Il affiche du potentiel et une jolie droiture.

Graphite et épices, légèrement fumé, le nez de Siran 2020 est complexe et frais. Très beau toucher de bouche fin et précis, frais et délicat pour un margaux tout en délicatesse, en finesse et en précision. Toute la délicatesse margalaise dans ce magnifique terroir. Et en plus c'est élégamment frais. Progression stylistique pour ce crus qui était déjà une belle référence.

Lots of purple fruit with asphalt and black-olive character. It's full-bodied with chewy tannins and a long, linear finish.

Le nez nous emmène sur la fraise écrasée et de délicates notes de cerise à l'eau-de-vie. Une très belle attaque, riche, pleine, savoureuse, prévient d'un vin qui passera les années. Un Siran séduisant aussi bien dans l'architecture que dans la palette aromatique.

This is powerful and juicy with well balanced, opulent berry fruits - easy to fall in love with. This really is one of the few that has tannins that feel well caressed by the fruits, and the slightly higher than average alcohols gives a flattering feel through the mid palate. Nice job from winemaker Marjolaine Defrance and owner Edouard Mialhe (who is now president of AOC Margaux, having succeeded Gonzaque Lurton). Tasted twice. 1% Cabernet Franc completes the blend. 35% new oak. Hubert de Boüard consultant oenologist. Harvest September 11 to October 3. Drinking Window 2027 - 2044

Dégustation de la rédaction du Figaro Vin : Les fruits rouges et le poivre blanc dominent au nez, dans une palette encore prise par le bois. En bouche, la matière est fine, soyeuse, avec des tannins bien fondus. On reste un peu sur sa faim même si l'ensemble est élégant.

The 2020 Siran was picked from September 16 to October 3 with an average yield of 36hl/ha, and matured in a prudent 35% new oak. It has a superb bouquet of vibrant black cherries, blueberry and violet scents on the nose – one that could only come from this appellation. The palate is medium-bodied with succulent but firm tannins, a crisp line of acidity and beautifully integrated oak. This is very cohesive and offers impressive salinity on the finish. Best Siran to date? I think so.

THE WINE CELLAR INSIDER

Incense, spice, oak, licorice, spearmint, smoke and red fruits peek through the perfume with ease. From there, the wine is plush and polished round and supple with layers of sweet, ripe fruits, spice and earthy nuances. Give this 7-8 years of cellaring and pop a cork on the best value in the Margaux appellation today.

Inky dark core with purple-crimson rim. Ripe dark fruit, blackberry as much as cassis, plus the fragrant lift of the Petit Verdot. A hint of new oak but not overdone. More savoury on the palate than I expected, with fresh cassis flavours to the fore. Lively, harmonious.

This high-flying Cru Bourgeois property has produced a blend of 47% Merlot, 43% Cabernet Sauvignon, 9% Petit Verdot and 1% Cabernet Franc. A dark and perfumed nose to this dark and concentrated wine is immediately convincing, with black damson and blackcurrant fruits scented with rose and violet, followed by a light wrapping of tobacco and cigar box. The palate builds on the wine's aromatic harmony, with a finely polished and rather elegant poise which runs through from the start to the finish, resting upon some very finely composed and well-knit tannins, and fresh acidity. Great fruit profile here, dark but finely drawn, with the tobacco oak working beautifully alongside it. Lovely substance and textural confidence on the finish, and a good length too. This is really convincing, and probably great value too. Siran has been on a roll in recent years, and this vintage does not deviate from this. One for the cellar. The alcohol declared is 14%. Tasted twice, with joyous consistency between the two samples.

WINE CHRONICLES

There is such ripe fruit and a velvety smooth aspect to this wine that all I could think of was the word “delicious”. This blend of 47% Merlot, 43% Cabernet Sauvignon and the rest Petit Verdot comes across almost like a Pomerol, and with the gravels do not ask me how. Clocks in at 14% alcohol. Nice job!

Deep dark ruby, opaque core, violet reflections, delicate rim brightening. Black berry fruit, nuances of blackberries and cassis, delicate fine wood spice underneath, mineral touch. Good complexity, black cherries, dark nougat, tight tannins that are well integrated, has good length and maturity potential.

The 2020 Siran is bold, racy and so expressive. Inky dark fruit, lavender, blueberry jam, spice, new leather, sweet oak and licorice. This sumptuous, racy Margaux possesses terrific depth and pliancy, all in a succulent style that likely won't require more than a few years in bottle. There is plenty to look forward to. Tasted two times.
