

2015

Harvest date

Merlot:

from September the 21st to October the 9th 2015

Cabernet Sauvignon:

From October the 5th to 9th 2015

Blend and comments of tasting

57% Cabernet Sauvignon

43% Merlot

✧ The wine is bright and limpid.
The robe is deep garnet and luminous. The nose is neat and straight.

Before stirring, cherry and cedar.

After stirring, come the black pepper aromas, fresh roses, lightly mineral.

The attack is frank and supple.

The mouth is immediately aromatic in the gray tobacco register, mineral and wooded touch barely vanilled.

The fine tannic frame, satin is the heart of a smooth volume

The retro-olfaction is very long, with cherry and mint.

✧ Wait for 2020 to savour, potential ageing until 2045

Weather

✧ Along winter, a few cold and frosted days, with plentiful rainfalls in December and January. June is suddenly very warm. The flower evolves nicely.

July is heatwave, vine is tested. August gives it some respite. Its rainfalls at the beginning of the month are particularly timely for veraison.
September is beautiful. The harvest begins later. We escape some heavy storms.

Merlot comes calmly, ripe and fruity. Temperatures are low and night very cold. Cabernet sauvignon are affected. Rainfalls revive its but warm nights and days worried. The atmosphere is concerned but the result pleasing.